About Something Real-Robert Hillman, Sr. 2011-09-17 Maybe it's not supposed to be easy for you. Maybe you're one of the rare few that can handle tough times and still choose to be a loving person. Maybe it's going how it's going because you're built for it. Maybe you still have time to choose to be different... and God would rather slow it all down and frustrate you than to let it keep going the way it is and fail you. Maybe it's just your time to refine. Maybe the pieces are being put into position and maybe it's not a test at all. Maybe there is a future tailored specifically to what's best for you ahead and rushing it could ruin it. Maybe you're as different as you feel and maybe you'll stay strong long enough to teach people to feel the same about themselves. Maybe we'll call it love. Maybe this is just what your growth looks like in this season and it's okay to accept and love that person. As long as you know you're giving it your all and the very best of you, keep going! Don't stress a thing. It's going to work out because you're not going to stop putting the work in. Signed copies available exclusively on RobHillSr.com

Bare Reflections of the Heart-Migdalia Castro 2009-05 Since I was a teenager in grade school I was writing poetry and short love stories. It was during the brake-up of my marriage that I took to writing again. All the feelings of abandonment, betrayal and humiliation gave me the inspiration to write what my heart, my soul and my mind was feeling during that awful time in my life. For me, writing was my therapy. Having no one to talk to, I would sit down with tears in my eyes, with my broken heart and my lonely self, the words would spilled out of me in a torrent of emotions that would leave me empty and drained. Everyone of us go through this kind of pain at one point or another in their lives, but not everyone takes time to write what they feel. I did. I hope that anyone who buy this book will share the same feelings I once felt.
