Dictionary of Civil Engineering-Jean-Paul Kurtz 2004-09-14 I am pleased to present a work which marks a milestone in the history of public works and, more precisely, in that of permanent structures—a comprehensive dictionary of Civil Engineering terms. Since the beginning of time, Man has always tried to find a means to clear the obstacles which nature erected to displace him. With the first tree trunk thrown across a river, man sought to improve the crossing structure. After the invention of the wheel, and to satisfy his thirst for conquest (Roman ways), and comfort (aqueducts), man built bridges that became a preremptory necessity to move quickly. Thus, Man started to build wooden and masonry works. With the passing centuries, the builders became masters in the art of building masonry works. Then came the Industrial Revolution and the advent of the steel (1864), which was closely followed by the invention of the reinforced concrete (1855). The need for railways and improving the road network inspired great works of crossing such as viaducts and tunnels. The boom of the railway network and the development of the car required the construction of an increasing number of new structures. This phenomenon continues today with hundreds of structures built each year throughout the world.

Showing Up for Life-Bill Gates, Sr. 2009-04-28 A heartfelt, deeply personal book that shines a bright light on the values and principles that Bill Gates Sr. has learned over a lifetime of "showing up": lessons that he learned growing up during the Great Depression, and that he instilled in his children and continues to practice on the world stage as the co-chair of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. Through the course of several dozen narratives arranged in roughly chronological fashion, Gates introduces the people and experiences that influenced his thinking and guided his moral compass. Among them: the scoutmaster who taught him about teamwork and self reliance; and his famous son, Trey, whose curiosity and passion for computers and software led him to ultimately co-found Microsoft. Through revealing stories of his daughters, Kristi and Libby; his late wife, Mary, and his current wife, Mimi; and his work with Nelson Mandela and Jimmy Carter, among others, he discusses the importance of hard work, getting along, honoring a confidence, speaking out, and much more. Showing Up for Life translates one man's experiences over fourscore years of living into an inspiring road map for readers everywhere. As Bill Gates Sr. puts it: "I'm 83 years old. Representing the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and everyone who is a part of it has given me the opportunity to see more of the world and its rich possibilities than most people ever do. I never imagined that I'd be working this late in life, or enjoying it so much."

Manufacturing Whiteness-Reto Muller 2001-01-11 In a series of convergent empirical essays, Manufacturing Whiteness explores the striking parallels in the social construction of whiteness and gender in colonial depictions of the colonizer/colonized and in contemporary advertising. The past decade has seen a sincere, if belated, willingness among white male scholars to self-critically examine the oppressive social, cultural, and political implications of their whiteness. Building on Jacques Lacan's powerfully original social-psychoanalytic insights into the role of desire in the fetishistic constitution of the subject-in-language, Manufacturing Whiteness offers a sophisticated, yet accessible theoretical method for deconstructing ad-content which enables the reader to trace whiteness, "otherness," and other worldliness to the very constitution of latemodern/postmodern western identity.

Resurrecting Bertha-Rob Siegel 2019-09-15 To most people, cars are just appliances to be disposed of when they rust, become unreliable, or are outgrown. But to car people, it's different. Cars are like photographs that occupy physical space. They hold aromas that trigger memories, and remind us of who we once were. In addition, to some people, the relationship with the car itself is a real thing. Many enthusiasts pine for the cars of their youth, regret that they ever let them go, and yearn and search for them the way people do with old lovers, hoping to find them and rekindle that old spark. In Resurrecting Bertha, Rob Siegel assures you that this is normal (well, as normal as anything is with car people), and embarks on this journey himself. Writing in his trademark Hack Mechanic voice that's enthralled readers for 35 years, Rob describes his original eight-year relationship with his highly-modified 1975 BMW 2002 "Bertha," selling the car to a dear friend, its 26 years of storage, and buying it back in a weak whisky-soaked moment only to experience the "oh dear God what did I just do" regret when he raises the long-closed garage door and comes face-to-face with the badly deteriorated car. The book details the steps Rob went through to get the car running, then driving, then sufficiently sorted to make a 2000-mile drive, and how the reconnection with the car was so much deeper than he expected. Resurrecting Bertha is about more than just the nuts and bolts; it's about deciding what's important, the joy of doing good, and how, if you do it right, not only can you go home again, but you can do so in the same car.

all his firsts, the path to discovery follows. What will he end up becoming? More importantly, with whom? Sample 1: "After a little while, he leaned down and passed me a book, if it could be called that. 'I bet you haven't seen one of these before, ' he said. 'I picked it up in Port Said on my last trip.' I took it from him and put my book to one side and saw that this so called book had been badly stapled together and that the cover was entitled "Gay" and was a picture of two naked men kissing each other. He was right. I hadn't ever seen such a book as I turned the pages... Sample 2: Shirley's light was soon turned off and laying there in the dark, I thought back to what I had just done with Shirley. Me having for the first time had had my toy sucked, and me then sucking on his. The thing was, I liked it. Well both really, and laying there with my toy in my hand, relived those wonderful experiences, doing what he had done by having my toy in his hand and mouth. It was really throbbing away as I moved the skin up and down, and it wasn't long before I leaned over to one side and had my cum shoot out to make a mess on the bed sheet where I wouldn't be lying during the night. With my toy going soft in my hand, I began to fondle my balls and with Shirley having sucked on me and wanted me to do him, there was only one other place left for my toy and he'd already had in his mouth which just left his ass.
